the point where their canoes were lying,
They
clambered into them, shoved ol hard and paddled vigorously in the direction of Cape East,

The boatswain and Jack went back into the hangar and trained the two guns upon them; and three canoes, cut in half, went to the bottom,

Just as the ship, coining under full sail
into the
arm of the sea, was off Shark's Island, she joined her heavy guns to those of the battery, Most of the pirogues failed to escape the rain of shot ad shell, and only two succeeded in vanishing behind the cape, never to return
